Art Unit: 2133

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-4, 6 and 9-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gittinger et al (5,668,815).

As per claims 1-4, Gittinger et al disclose the invention substantially as claimed, comprising:

A processing core ((16);

An internal memory (30) containing test routines that the processing core executes to test an integrated circuit; and

An interface (44) coupled to the processing core to permit activation of a first output signal indicating a test result from executing the test routines. (See Figs. 1-2 and col. 5, line 15 to col. 6, line 56).

As per claim 6, the teaching of Gittinger et al had been discussed above. They further disclose wherein the test routines include tests of the internal memory. (See col. 5, lines 31-35).

As per claims 9-13, these method claims are also rejected under the same rationale as set forth in system claims 1-4.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 5 and 7-8 and 14-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gittinger et al (5,668,815) in view of the admitted prior art (Pgs. 1-2).

As per claims 5 and 7-8, the teaching of Gittinger et al had been discussed above. They do not disclose that the internal memory contains a first set of test routines for execution during a production test of the integrated circuit and a second set of test routines for execution during an in-product test of the integrated circuit. However, the admitted prior art (Pgs. 1-2) does disclose that the internal memory contains a first set of test routines for execution during a production test of the integrated circuit and a second set of test routines for execution during an in-product test of the integrated circuit. Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to incorporate the teaching the admitted prior art into the invention of Gittinger et al so that errors can be detected.

Art Unit: 2133

As per claims 14-17, these method claims are also rejected under the same rationale as set forth in system claims 5 and 7-8.
